4.0 SCOPE OF WORK:

The work is comprised of nourishment and reconstruction of 10 nos. spurs in the Nischintapur reach of River Hooghly (left bank, South 24 pgs side) downstream of Nischintapur office of LRRS. These spurs are divided in two sets from execution point of view.

- A. Spurs requiring nourishment, i.e, Spur 134 & 135,
- B. Spurs requiring rebuilding, i.e., 132 and 133

The methodology of A and B are as below:

- A. The nourishment work comprises of building up of eroded portions of spurs by local river sand filled bags in a composite core of two types – first 3/5th part of available depth of build of core at each section (as far as practicable) to be done with not less than 50 kg HDPE bags in PP rope gabions (each gabion containing 8 nos. not less than 50 kg HDPE bags) and remaining 2/5th part of available depth of build of core at each section (as far as practicable) to be done with not less than 100 Kg Geo-bags in PP rope gabions (each gabion containing 4 nos. not less than 100 kg Geo-bags). The built up core is to be covered with 0.7m thick riprap of 30 – 60 Kg size laterite boulders. This riprap is to extend to a width of 5m at sides and 10m at nose end of the spurs in the form of apron. For nourishment purpose the bodies of spurs up to cut-off point the built up top is to be finished to 3m ACD. The lengths of bodies and nose slope of the spurs under nourishment are mentioned below and in the supplied long sections of the spurs. The finished side slopes and crest width of all the spurs will be 1:2 and 3m respectively. The longitudinal slope of the nose will be as per site condition and as mentioned in the drawings. The shore connection, which is a 3m wide and 0.7m thick layer of laterite boulders of 30 – 60 Kg sizes laid on Jute Geo-matress, will be of lengths to suit site conditions. All dumped laterite boulders are to be hand dressed up to a level of 2m ACD.
- B. The rebuilding work comprises of building up of spurs by first laying a geo-matress overlaid with fascine weips and tied at the submerged end with a sinking beam, on the river bed starting from a tucked in anchor trench at the 3m ACD contour (or any contour higher than 3m ACD, if site conditions so demand) on the landward side continuing up to such contours to provide an underlay of the furthest point of the spur body, nose and apron inside riverbed. The remaining part of the work will be same as that of nourishment of spurs as described above.
- C. As per hydraulic demand, unless all spurs can be taken up simultaneously, the spurs under nourishment will be taken up after the spurs 132 and 133 are built at least up to their respective composite cores.
- D. It is to be noted that the river bed may respond to the work by local scouring and/or shoaling making the sectional depths of build to change from the prework levels. Accordingly, the scope of work includes 'at-site' and 'during work' modifications of spur profiles/geometry subject to hydraulic clearance of Kolkata Port Trust. Otherwise the general spur geometry will be trapezoidal prism with 3m crest width for the body portion (up to cut off point) and triangular prism with zero crest width (i.e., having a linear edge or ridge with gradually falling gradient) for the nose portion. The typical dimensions of the spurs are indicated below:

Nourishment:

Spur No	Length of body (m)	Length of Nose (m)	Side Slope of Spur Body (V:H)	Longitudinal slope of spur body (V:H)
134	45	45	1:2	1:2.5
135	30	32	1:2	1:2.5

Re-building:

Spur No	Length of body (m)	Length of Nose (m)	Side Slope of Spur Body (V:H)	Longitudinal slope of spur body (V:H)
132	15	80	1:2	1:3.5
133	12.5	35	1:2	1:2.5

The scope of work also includes two rows of single file bamboo porcupines of specified shape and specification interlinked with a PP rope tie of specified diameter along 2m ACD contour (and above if site conditions so demand) from downstream of Spur135, between Spurs 134 and 135 and upstream of Spur 134. The length of the porcupine work will be as required as per site conditions.

The scope of work also includes all preliminary works like earthwork, dressing of banks, setting out and temporary sight marks and erecting brick masonry pillars at inner (farthest from river) & outer(nearest to river) pins, painted and spurs number written on it etc as given in the BOQ items and as required for successfully completing the BOQ works in an active inter-tidal zone as described and set forth in the Bill of Quantities, Special Conditions of Contract, Technical Specifications of works, Specification for materials and workmanship with all additional or varied works which may thereafter be required in accordance with Clause 7 of the General Conditions of Contract and as per the direction and up to the satisfaction of the Engineer.

After calibration of the barge the Contractor has to submit the calibration chart of each barge with detailed calculation sheets for determining the weight of loaded barge by displacement method by taking 6 (six) measurements, 3 (three) on the star board side and 3 (three) on the Port side fixing suitable stiff bulkheads in the barge at both ends. Paint a horizontal line all round the inside face of the hull and bulkheads upto which the boulders will be loaded by the Contractor under normal circumstances. Paint the position of the bulkheads on both the port-side and starboard side of the barge. No such barges or its number should be changed without written permission of the Engineer or his representative. Before all such barges are put to transportation of boulders, they shall be brought to a suitable location in empty condition for calibration and measurement.

Barge must be kept dry while loading boulders for dumping. Tonnage of laterite boulders will be measured by noting the displacement of the loaded barge. To measure the displacement, the Contractor must fabricate, fix G.I. pipes and other necessary barges at Six locations (one each near the front the near corners and one each on the centre lines of the barges). The levels of water in the G.I. pipes before and after loading of the barges are to be measured' with a Calibrated Steel Gauge for ascertaining the displacement of barges for calculating the tonnage. The displacement of the barge would be calibrated and standardized by loading the barge with known loads in presence of the Engineer or his representative before the actual loading of barges for dumping.
